

This article is written in memory and celebration of Glenda Adshade.

The stories, commitment, and passion of many people and agencies made the Lesbians and Breast Cancer Project possible. Chris, Lisa, Patti, Pam and Fran were members of the Project Team. The names of all of the team members and of the women who participated in the study, along with a list of partner agencies and funders and the project report, are hosted at the DisAble Women's Network Ontario website <<http://dawn.thot.net/lbcp>> (thanks to DAWN Ontario, and Barbara Anello, for this).

References

- Barnoff, L., C. Sinding and P. Grasso. "Listening to the Voices of Lesbians Diagnosed with Cancer: Recommendations for Change in Cancer Support Services." Journal of Gay and Lesbian Social Services 18 (1) (2006): 17-35.
- Coalition for Lesbian and Gay Rights in Ontario. Systems Failure: A Report on the Experiences of Sexual Minorities in Ontario's Health-Care and Social-Services Systems. Toronto, 1997.
- Daley, A. "Lesbian and Gay Issues: OUTside of Canada's Health Policy." Critical Social Policy 26 (4) (2006): 794-816.
- Lesbians and Breast Cancer Project Team. "Silent No More: Coming Out About Lesbians and Cancer." Canadian Woman Studies/les cahiers de la femme 24 (1) (2004): 37-42.
- Sinding, C., L. Barnoff and P. Grasso. "Homophobia and Heterosexism in Cancer Care: The Experiences of Lesbians." Canadian Journal of Nursing Research 36 (4) (2004): 171-188.
- Steinbugler, A. "Visibility as Privilege and Danger: Heterosexual and Same-Sex Interracial Intimacy in the 21st Century." Sexualities 8 (4) (2005): 425.

MALCA LITOVITZ

Cheap Top

Cheap top — twenty-five bucks—made me feel great for a summer.

Now even expensive clothes leave me the same —
I can't play with what I wear.

My hands are clasped,
feet flat on the floor
like some grade school student in Gradgrind's college.

Where did my daring go?

Jarred, rattled, shot down —
a tube up my nose,
a bag on my waist,
an uncertain future.
Chemicals through my body —
hair lost —
no eyebrows, no eyelashes — no trace of hair any where.

Music I can't listen to,
books I can't read,
files I can't sort.

"Accent the positive," dad used to say.

Dad's gone.
November is almost gone.

Malca Litovitz's poetry appears earlier in this volume.